ESTABLISHED IN 1846.

Before making your arrangements to follow the advice of the "thousands who have already gone," it would be well to consider what has been done to make the journey to your 'Homes in the West" as pleasant and free from danger as human skill and fore-sight can accomplish.

By consolidation and construction, a road has been put into operation on the shortest possible line from Nashville, Tenn., to St. Louis, "the future great City of the world." This line, the has, during the past year, carned an enviable reputation by its smooth track, prompt time, sure connections, and the magnificence of its passenger equipment. Its trains are made up of new and commodious day cars, provided with the celebrated Miller coupler and p'atform, and the Westinghouse air-brake.

It is possitively the only line running Pullman Palace Drawing-Boom Sleeping Cars through without change from Nashville to St. Louis. No other fine pretends to offer such advantages, either in distance, time, or equipment. Why, then, journey by circuitous routes? Do not be induced to purchase tickets to St. Louis or the West by any other line, remember that

The "St. Louis & Southeastern" is the shortest, cheapest, quickest, best and only line under one management from Nashville to St. Louis, and is from 60 to 200 miles the shortest to St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Denver, California, Texas, and all western points. It is also the "Chicago Shortest Line," via Evansville.

You can secure the cheapest rates for yourselves and your movables on application, in person or by letter, to C. S. BAR-RETT, Southern Passenger Agent, Postot; fice Box 242, Chattanooga Tenn., or to the

The State Printer.
The published answer of Attorney General Hargrove to the Governor, concerning the authority of the latter to appoint a public printer, proceeds upon the theory that the public printer is not an officer. He is a contractor, an employee of the General Assembly, says the Attorney General, and has no portion of the State's sovereignty vested in him; nor is he required to take an oath to support the Constitution, either of the State or the United States. This, it is argued, is the test of an officeholder, because the Constitution requires every officer to take such an oath.

Colonel Hargrove admits that the contractor has to perform the duties which the State Printer had to exercise when he was an officer. It is acknowledged that the same rights appertain to the contractor for the public printing as once belonged to the State Printer but because the General Assembly has abolished the office only, still keeping States." the functions of the office in existence, but under the less pretentious name of contractor, the Executive has by such an evasion been deprived of its Constitutional prerogative. These admissions are fatal. If an officer can be divested of his status by the General Assembly by a statute, and sink to a contractor, still performing the duties which devolved upon the officer, the General Assembly can nullify the Constitution at its will. Section 10, Article III., can be emasculated until all the offices whose incumbents are not specially and directan oath for an officer to take, can it be lash of public indignation and legislasaid that that body can take advantage tive investigation the defenders of the of its own neglect and wrong? It was ring, the corrupt judges who had sold Governor a part of the authority conferred by the Constitution, and, in an argument to support the usurpation, cannot be of the slightest weight.

We will notice this subject again, The Postmaster General has orderd that havened on the department will be made subject to examination by a board whose duty it shall be to 'examine special agents and report in writing, parsons found not qualified will be disffect in all departments of the civil service, both of the national, state and municipal governments. Incipient army and navy officers each have to undergo the various tests deemed essential to the proper performance of the duties confipower and authority in the one case as in the other. A thorough enforcement of such an order in all departments of the government would ensure faithful and worthy officers, and relieve Congress and others of the importanities of the many cross-road politicians who think they have a call to serve their country in a public capacity .- Richmond

EDITORIAL BUDGET.

The New York Tribune acknowledges the receipt of $20, which somebody has sent to its conscience fund. If the conscience fund of all newspapers were paid up there would be an amazing increase in the wealth of journalists.

- In England and America rebellions are generally crushed in the mass, and afterwards, the leaders come back into Parliament and Congress rather as heroes than as sinners. Modern France rushes into a great war and gets soundly thrashed, and supplements its overthrow by shooting several thousand of its own people, and condemning its unfortunate Generals to death. If Bazaine is to be sacrificed, Napoleon III. is safe in the grave from the same fate if he had been caught and tried by the same tribunal that condemned the ill-starred hero who followed poor Maximilian to

- A Boston lecturer the other night repeated a story which an old lady once told him. This lady at one time kept the most select boarding-house in Cambridge, near the college. One day a seedy-looking man, with unkemt hair and beard, came to her door and asked for board. "Sir," she said, "understand that I receive none but gentlemen into my house." "Very well.', he replied "I will go elsewhere." "And who do you think that shabby fellow was?" the venerable lady said to the speaker. "He was no less than Professor John Quincy Adams, now President of the United

A Wholesome Lesson.

The fate of the ring thieves in New York ought to be a lesson to evil doers everywhere. A few years ago these thieves, rich with plunder, protected by a powerful party, laughed at public sentiment and defied the arm of justice. The overthrow of the democratic party was the death knell of their corrupt power. The people had become aroused at the enormity of their crimes, and were determined to bring all of them to punishment. The task was a hard one. A corrupt judiciary stood in the way. To institute reforms in the administration of justice was slow work, ly mentioned in the Constitution, can but it was prosecuted with a fidelity be filled by the Legislature. Because which reflects the highest honor on the the General Assembly does not prescribe able representatives of public virtue who undertook the task. Under the a part of the scheme to wrest from the themselves for money, were driven from the bench and men of integrity were called to fill their places.

The reformation of the judiciary was the triumph of virtue over vice, the victory of the honest tax-payers over the thieves who for years have been plundering them in the name of the law. From that moment the ring saw the handwriting on the wall: their within them, and alarm seized the boldest of the gang. Some stood to face of examiners to be duly appointed, the charges in the vain hope that money, so powerful as a defence in the past, would shield them in the future. Others fled under the cover of night, and, ticularly as to their qualifications. Per-sons found not qualified will be dis-in foreign lands—fugitives from justice. It required time, patience and wonder-This is an admirable order of Mr. Creswell, and should be carried into efthe very stronghold of vice, public virtue, if once aroused to action, has the power to compel obedience to her commands. "Tweed sent to the penitentiary for twelve years, Ingersoll sent to the State prison for five years, and Farrington for eighteen months" take but little space in the court reports, but ded to their care, and failing are cast they speak volumes to the American aside. There is as much reason for as-certaining ability before cutrusting which official stealing will find no protection in the courts of the land. We hail the dawn of this period with satisfaction, for it assures us that the people have an eye to their own interests, and that the same rules of morality which govern in private life are to be applied hereafter to those who hold public positions. Let the fate of the ring in New York be a warning to all who seek money through dishonest means; let it impress upon the young and the ambitious the absolute necessity of dealing honestly with all men, and practicing in every-day life that golden rule: "Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto." Wealth may be at tractive and werth striving for, but, if get at the expense of honor, its possession will bring no enjoyment, but, like the wealth of Tweed, prove curse to the possessor. Far better the lot of the honest laborer, who enjoys the fruits of his toil, than the lot of the rich theif who continually fears the hand of justice. Better be a poor man, eating the bread of honest industry, than a millionaire on Blackwell's Island.

AMERICAN STAR

Leather Preservative COMPANY

The attention of the public is requested to the American Star Leather Cleaner and Dresser for Boots, Shoes, Harness and everything in the way of Leather exposed to mud, water or otherwise. It is easily applied, saves time and labor, and is from twenty-five to fifty per ceut, cheaper than any other prebaration now in use. It renders the Leather soft, pliable, water-proof and refreshed. One application cleans, oils, blackens and lifts off all foreign matter; then the preparation sinks in giving it a neat, leathery finish. The first premium was awarded it at the American Institute Fair, New York, 1873, also at the Maryland Institute Fair, Baltimore, 1873.

1873, also at the Maryland Institute Fair, Baltimore, 1873.

If oil alone is used on Leather, the oxygen of the air bas an affinity for the same, weakening the fibres, thereby rotttening it. Our article is composed of such ingredients that while retaining all the virtnes of the best oils used in refreshing Leather, it is not effected by water, weather or exygen.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND. Nov. 20, 1873.

My analysis of the American Star Leather Cleaner and Dresser shows that it is composed of substance well known to be beneficial and preservative in their action on Leather, while it contains no free acid and nothing or any kind that can be in any way injurious. A Young man was struck in the eye with a torpedo, yesterday, but fortunately no damage was done, and we were deprived of an item.

REMARKABLE.—We have not heard of a single accident from the use of firearms during Christmas week. This, we think, is remarkable, taking into consideration the fact that there are always more or less accidents from the careless use of fire-arms.

DANGEROUS.—The board covering of an old well on the sidewalk on the south side of Walnut, between Third and Fourth streets, caved in last night, leaving a deep and dangerous hele. The facts were reported to the authorities this morning, and the necessary repairs were made.

ELECTION OF OFFICER S .- At a regular meeting of Calanthe Lodge, No. 7, Knights of Pythias, held at their hall last evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

C. C., Aaron Louis. V. C., Jacob S. Macks. P., H. G. Smallbones. K. of R. and S., John L. Dudley. M. of E., D. Greenewald. M. of F., W. J. Toomer.

THE QUEEN OF ALL SEWING MA-CHINES is the Elias Howe Family Sewing Machine. It has an easy, rapid movement, makes the "Lock Stich," and does to perfection all kinds of plain and fine sewing, it needs no recommendation; its large sales, the increasing demands, and the many flattering testimonials from those who have used it is a sufficient proof of its merit. The want of a sewing machine is deeply felt in every household, and as the "Howe" is sold in the South at a much lower price than other machines which sell at an advauce over New York prices; it s meeting with the extensive patronage it deserves. BEATEN AND ROBBED ON THE HIGH-WAY .- On Christmas Eve night a young foreigner, (who was slightly benzined, while near the corner of Second and Brunswick streets, was pounced upon by two colored men, Nelson Kelly and Dennis Smith, badly beaten, and stripped of his coat and vest. The pockets of his pantaloons were cut out by the men in order to get at his money .--The young man says that he was stunned by the blows, and his eyes and head bear evidence of pretty austere treatment. The men were tried before Squire Gardener for assault and battery and highway robbery, this morning. The evidence being sufficient to warrant their detention until the next term of the Superior Court, they were bound over in the sum of $150 each, in default of which they were committed ENTERTAINMENT.—A most pleas ant entertainment of the Christmas holidays was that of the children of the Lutheran Sunday School, at their Church on Christmas night. The beautiful little edifice was literally packed, and every one expressed themselves highly pleased with the recitations, of German and English poems. Where all did so well it is hardly fair to particularize, but we cannot refrain from making particular mention of the little daughter of Mr. G. H. W. Runge in her German recitation, and Miss Annie Gerken in her recital of an English poem. The little ladies acquitted themselves very handsomely, and their recitations would have done credit to much older persons. A Curious Christmas Tree. BY FRANK P. STOCKTON.

When it became generally known that Aunt Matilda was to have a Christmas tree the people of the neighborhood took a great interest in the matter.-John Walker and Dick Ford, two colinto the woods to cut it, eighteen other colored people, big and little, followed

A very fine tree was selected. It was a pine, ten feet high, and when they brought it into Aunt Matilda's cabin they could not stand it upright, for the old colored woman's ceiling was rather

When Harry and Kate came home from school they were rather surprised to see so big a tree, but it was such a fine one that they thought they must have it. After some consideration it was determined to erect it in a deserted cabin near by which had no upper floor and was high enough to allow the tree to stand up satisfactorily. This was, indeed, an excellent arrangement, for it was better to keep the decoration of the Christmas tree a secret from Aunt Matilda until all was completed.

The next day was a holiday, and work. A hole was dug in the clay floor of the old cabin, and the tree planted firmly therein. It was very firm indeed; for a little colored boy named Josephine's Bobby climbed nearly to the topmost branch without shaking it very much. For four or five days the work of decorating the tree went on. Everybody talked about it, a great many laughed at it. and nearly everybody seemed inclined to give something to hang upon its branches. Kate brought a large box containing the decorations of her last Christmas tree, and she and Harry hung sparkling balls, and golden stars, and silver fishes, and red and blue paper angels, and candy swans, and sugar pears, and glittering things of all sorts, shapes and sizes upon the boughs. Harry had a step-ladder, and Dick Ford and five colored boys held it firmly while he stood on it and tied on the ornaments. Very soon the neighbors began to send in their contributions. Mrs. Loudon gave a stout woolen dress, which was draped over a lower branch; while Mr. Loudon, who was not to be diverted from his original idea, sent an army blanket, which Kate arranged around the root of the tree, so as to look as much as possible like gray moss. Mr. Darby, who kept the store, sent a large paper bag of sugar and a small bag of concurrent before December 1st. h were carefully hung on lower branches. Miss Jane Davis thought full of freight and passenger trains. she ought to do something, and she contributed a peck of sweet potatoes, which, each tied to a string, were soon dangling from the branches. Then Mr. Truly Matthews. who did not wish to be behind his neighbors in generosity, sent a shoulder of bacon, which looked quite magnificent as it swung about the middle of the tree. Other people sent bars of soap, bags of meal, packages of smoking tobacco and flannel petticoats. A pair of shoes was contributed, and several pairs of stockings, which were filled with apples and hickory nuts by the considerate Kate. Several of the school children gave sticks of candy; and old Mrs. Sarah Page, who had nothing else to spare, brought a jug of molasses, which was suspended near the top of the tree.

Harry bore the general expenses of the extras," which were not trifling. When Christmas eve arrived every mas tree. Kate anb Harry were inside superentending the final arrangements and about fifty or sixty persons colored andwhite, were gathered around the clos-door of the old cabin. When all was ready Aunt Matilda made her appearance supported on either side by Dick Ford and John Walker, while Uncle Braddock, in his many-colored dressing gown, followed close behind. Then the door was opened, and Aunt Matilda entered, foilowed by as many of the crowed as could get in. It was certainly a scene of splendor. A wood fire blazed in the fire-place at one end of the cabin, while dozens of tallow candles lighted up the tree. The gold and silver stars glistened, the many-colored glass balls shone among the green pine boughs the shoulder of bacon glowed like a bed of flowers, while the jug of molasses hung calm and serene surrounded by its glittering beads. A universal buzz of approbation and delight arose. No one had ever seen such a Christmas tree before. Every bough and every branch bore some thing useful as wel

But when they went out John Stowe insisted on loading the rifle for each competitor, and Henry contended that each man should charge them, some to help and some to give his gun for himself. Henry, however, acceded to the demand of John until it was his turn to shoot, when he demanded that the rifle be given to him to load. High words followed, in the course of which Henry charged John with dishonesty in not putting any ball in the gun when last loading it. John called Henry a liar, upon which Henry shot John dead with his revolver. Henry was immediately seized by the remainder of the party, numbering four men, dragged to a mill, from which a rope was procured, and hanged to a limb. The company then repaired to the "Office" and took a drink, and returning, found their victim dead. Seeming then to realize for the first time what had happened, those who participated fled and have not yet been
